Med 37-25-1

Sir,

With reference to your D. O. letter No. L. 194, dated 10th July 1925, I have the honour to forward herewith, for information of Government, a copy of letter No. C. 1, dated 13th July 1925, from the Medical Officer, Victoria Hospital, together with copies of the case-sheets of both the cases and of notes of the post-mortem examination in the Motor Accident case, and to state as follows:

INJURY CASE. It will be seen that the treatment prescribed in this case by the Medical Officer, which forms the subject of criticism in the Wealth of Mysore, is reported to have been "found to work most efficaciously in almost every case of shock" treated by Dr. Puttanna during his eleven years' practice. The Medical Officer has also quoted authorities in support of the line of treatment. Professional opinion in the matter ought to prevail over the random opinion of the Wealth of Mysore. The administration of Morphia to reduce shock is a recognised treatment.

INTESTINAL OBSTRUCTION. The history of this case goes to show that the real facts are different from what the Wealth of Mysore has shown them to be. It is one of the first principles in Surgery that no operation, however necessary it may be in the eyes of the Surgeon, should be performed without the consent of the patient or other person responsible for the patient. In the case in question, the patient refused to undergo an operation on the first two days and only consented on the third day by which time the condition had become very low and almost almost hopeless. Thus it is a case in which the offer of surgical relief at the right time was refused and the consent, given when the case became hopeless, would not be availed of by the operator for fear of hastening the end.

In this connection the appended statistics of cases of intestinal obstruction treated in the Victoria Hospital in the past, between 1918-1920 and in the Present (1921 to 1924) will not be without interest. In the triennium 1918-1920 out of 36 cases admitted, only 14 or 41 per cent. were operated upon and the remaining 59 per cent. medically treated. The success in operated cases was 2/14 or only 14 per cent., the remaining 86 per cent proving fatal. In the cases medically treated, the percentage of cures was 77 (being 17 out of 22) and that of failure 23. During the next quadrennium, 39 cases were admitted, out of which 12 were surgically treated and the remaining 27 treated without an operation. The percentage of success in operated cases was 16 and that in unoperated cases was 63. These figures are eloquent both as regards the relative efficacy of surgical and medical treatment of cases of the kind and the relative efficiency of the institution in the PAST and the PRESENT.

It may not be out of place to mention that difference of opinion as regards method of treatment, whether surgical or medical, is by no means a rare thing. Each physician or surgeon usually follows the technique in which he was trained and with his subsequent studies and experience, evolves his own lines of treatment, wherein he ought always to be credited with having used his best discretion, unless the contrary could be proved. Controversies of this kind, to be of real benefit, ought to be carried on in scientific journals. They are altogether beyond the province of non-technical papers like the Wealth of Mysore. If the cases have been put in by the Editor on his own responsibility with the purpose of enlisting public sympathy towards his aim of having the instituinstitution out of departmental jurisdiction, it is regretable that he should not have realised the extent of harm he was doing to the public by creating false alarm and injustice to the staff of the institution by his unwarranted statements. If it was inspired by any person in the profession, which is not unlikely, his conduct in having had recourse to newspapers can only be characterised as unprofessional.

The matter does not seem to be worth notice.

I have the honour to be,

Sir,

Your most obedient servant,

Senior Surgeon.

* Letter No. C. 1. dated 13th July 1925 from the Medical Officer, Victoria Hospital, Bangalore, to the Senior Surgeon in Mysore, Bangalore.

Adverting to your personal enquiry in the matter of a patient (Yelli by name) who died in the Hospital recently as a result of a motor accident and of another fatal case of intestinal obstruction, I beg to bring the following facts for favour of your consideration.

The motor car accident case was admitted into the Hospital on 3-5-1925 in an unconscious state consquent upon injury to the Brain and died on the following day about noon of compression as the post mortem examination has clearly revealed. It is astonishing that it should have been hinted to you that the cause of death might be morphia poisoning in face of the above mentioned post mortem result. Morphia had no doubt been administered upon my prescription (which I reiterate in the margin for ready reference) but morphia combined with its physiological antidote, Atropin, as in my prescription can never poison the system. On the other hand this treatment is one strongly advocated by no less an authority than Crile and Rose and Carless, and it is found to work most efficaciously in almost every case of shock I have treated during the last 11 years of my experience, both here and in England.

The case of intestinal obstruction which also proved fatal was admitted into the Hospital during my absence on leave recently and I enclose a copy of the case sheet, which gives an insight into the actual circumstances under which death occured. Here again. I must say that if no surgical operation was done on the patient it was because the patient herself was even at the time of admission in extremis and would not consent to any operative interference. She was, therefore, subjected to medicinal treatment only, both on the first and the second day. On the third day, however, she gave her consent for an operation, but by then her condition had gone too bad for an operation to be performed on her. It is therefore evident that it is not due to any lack of efficiency on the part of the surgeons that handled the case that no surgical aid was given to the patient but only because of the unwillingness of the patient to avail herself of such aid offered to her in the right time.

I trust the elucidation of facts regarding the two above mentioned fatal cases will serve to remove any misapprehension caused in the matter.

(c) To give higher musical training.

3. To join with all other institutions, which have Satyagraha and non violence as their creed."

To say the least, this is putting the cart before the horse. Thcse sisters are advised to do humanitarian work before reforming themselves. The idea of giving higher musical training will be accounted as extremely funny if it was not tragic in its consequence. For let it be understood these women do know how to dance and sing. And they may join all organisation which have satyagraha and non-violence as their creed all the time they are, by their trade, doing violence to truth and non-violence !

The document before me says further that they have been enrolled as Congress members and have also been allowed to 'do other national work befitting their humble position.' I have seen what I regard as an obscene manifesto written in their name.

Whatever be the motives, I cannot but regard the whole of this development as disgraceful. I appreciate spinning, but it must not be used as a passport to vice. I like everybody to subscribe to Satyagraha but I would prevent by all the power at my command an unrepentant professional murderer from signing the creed. My whole heart is with these sisters. But I am unable to identify myself with the methods adopted at Barisal. These sisters have acquired status which for the sake of the moral well being of society they must not have. We will not incorporate an association of known-thieves for the purpose for which these women have formed their association. There is less warrant for this association, for these are more dangerous than thieves. The latter steal material possessions, the former steal virtue. Whilst man is primarily responsible for the existence of these unfortunate members of society it must not be forgotten that they have acquired tremondously dangerous powers for michief. I was told in Barisal that the corporate activity of these women had made them unhealthily forward and that they were already producing a corrupt influence upon the Barisal youths. I wish that the association could be disbanded. I am firmly of opinion that so long as they continue the life of shame, it is wrong to accept donations or services from them or to elect them as delegates or to encourage them to become members of the Congress. These is no legal bar against their entry into the Congress but I had hoped that public opinion would keep them off the Congress and that they themselves would have the modesty to refrain from seeking Congress membership.

I wish that my words could reach them. I would urge them to withdraw their names from the Congress, forget that they had an association, but quickly and resolutely give up their immoral trade. Then and not till then, they may take up spinning as discipline, and weaving or any other remunerative and clean occupation for a living.

Chinese Mahomodans:—A message from Peking says that the Chinese Mahomedans, under Chitijen, President of the Mahomedan Foreign Relations Association, and General Maliang have decided to send delegates to India and other British Protectorats in ordes to "arouse people against Brittain as a common enemy.

MADRAS UNIVERSITY SENATE ELECTION.

The nomination for two vacant seats in the Madras University senate to be filled up by election from among the Registered graduates closed on 26-6-25. Mr. K. Sanjiva Kamat B.A. B.L., who is a candidate for one of the seats has received more than a dyzen nominations among which may be mentioned these from Messrs. A. Rangaswamy Iyengar M.L.A., B. Venkatapathiraju M.L.A., C. V. Venkataramana Iyengar M.L.C., K. G. Seshaiyengar (Retired High Court Judge) Trivandrum, Prof. P. V. Ramachandra Rao of Bangalore and others

Mr. Kamath has been working in the Boyscout movement for a number of years and has been concerned with its organisation not only in this Presidency but also in Travankore, Mysore and Hydrabad. His contest for a seat in the present form of University life "intellectual pursuits have been given an undue preference to the almost complete deteriment of bodily trainning with the result that the principle of "a healthy mind in a healthy body" has been almost neglected". and he proposes to strive to remedy this effect.

Ballet papers will be sent to the votors on or about the 30th instant and they have to be returned to the Vice-chancellor with the votes duly recorded on or before the 14th July 1625.

MORNING ENTRANCE STUDENTS, PRIVATE CANDIDATES AND OTHERS.

Classes between 2 and 5 P.M., are held for the convenience of the above candidates in all Commercial Subjects at the Champion Metropolitan College of Commerce, Economics, Banking, Commercial Law, Shorthand and Typewriting, Yelwal Road, Mysore.

Locals and Notes,

Vykom Satygraha:—The City Municipality at its general meeting, under the presidentship of Rao Bahadur Apte, passed a resolution congratulating the Satyagrahis at Vaikom on their victory and thanking the Maharani-Regent of Travancore for her liberality and statesmanship.

Jumping iuto a Train while in Motion:—An accident which should serve as a warning and a leason to passengers who practise the art of jumping into trains when in motion' occurred on Saturday last at the Perambur Railway Station. Manavala Naicker, aged 24 years, jumped into a pagsenger train from the Permabur platform when the train was in motion. The poor man missed the mark and slipped in between the platform and the train. The palm of his right hand was crushed underneath the weele and his body was severely bruised. He was removed to the Royapuram Hospital immediately by the Railway Police.

The art of evading controversy:—A London message to "New India" under date June 26 states:—"The Manchchester Guardian" referring to Lord Reding's speech at the British Indian union luncheon yesterday, says:" Lord Reding spokee briefly in rounded generalities, with all possible caution, about the responsibilities of his high office, his deep interest in India and his sense of the paramount importance of understanding and co-operation between the two peoples. He referred in a single sentence to the Indian Office Conference with his colleague, 'the brilliant, highly-endowed and versatile Lord Birkenhead,' upon important matters still under discussion and still undecided. No living public man can do better than Lord Reading in evading topics of possible controversy with the greater pomp of sound." No better description could be given.

Mysore Railway Earnings:—The approximate gross earnings of the Mysore Railways worked by the State during the week ending 13th June 1925 amounted to Rs. 90,100 or an increase of Rs. 7,344 over the earnings for the corresponding week of last year and Rs. 8,636 more than the earnings of the previous week, due to an increase in the coaching traffic on account of the Birthday of His Highness the Maharaja. This brings the total earnings of the Mysore Railways from 1st July 1924 to Rs. 32·47 lakhs.

CORRESPONDENCE.

(The Editor does not hold himself responsible for the opinions of Correspondents.)

THE PLIGHT OF OVERSEERS IN THE MYSORE P. W. D.

SIR,—

There is a class of overseers who have been neither the fowl nor the birds in the P.W.D. Their work is not defined with the result that the subordinates lower in rank do not care for them and the other higher placed officers and subordinates hate them. This situation is aggravated day by day.

Frequent transfers from one place to another, as per orders of the head of the Department take place. No mention made of their Head Quarters or the works to be entrusted to them. This is the fate of this class These unfortunate victims of the jealous eye and treatment at the hands of their superiorily-placed officials and never cared for by their fellow subordinates, have an anamolous position assigned to them, awaiting the Democle's sword hanging heavily over their heads. This criminal waste of public money on these upper subordinates requires to be nipped in the bud. The only way to get over this is, to assign to them definite areas of work or to make them responsible for the complete working out of the pending projects awaiting disposal for years in each D. P. W. division and to see that they are better treated as an important machinery who are equipped with the brain of the officers on the one hand, and qualities best suited to carry out the order to the best advantage as a subordinate on the other hand. This class served to bridge the gulf that existed in the olden days between the officers and the subordinates who were entrusted with the carrrying out of the work estimate.

In our small stat, we have abcut 30 overseers and probably 30 sub-divisions attached to the D.P.W. and if one overseer is given for each sub division with some definite programme of work as suggested below, we are confident that a greater amount of work can be turned out.

For each sub-division 2 or 3 taluks are attached and one Assistant Engineer is placed in charge of it. Hence this work of a sub division might well be shared by the overseer. For example the irrigation, or roads and buildings work, as the importance of the place demands be allotted to these overseers. Or much better a demarcation line drawn and works of petty nature or works with small estimates within the powers of the Executive Engineer be entrusted to them.

Or better still, why not make them, technical assistants to the Sub Divisinal Officers with definite responsibilities and clear cut-programme of work.

As it is, the percentage of Establishment charges with the cost allotted for works goes so high as 40 per cent and in order to reduce this very high percentage from 40 per cent to at least 20 per cent the first and foremost duty of a wise administrator is not to reduce the number of appointments, but to make the best use of men fully equipped with the wisdom, experience, efficiency and etc., by extracting as best a work as the occasion demands from these subordinates.

Mysore Patriotism.

A reprint of a series of brilliant articles written in the Indian Patriot in 1910, created a sensation by their ruthless exposure of the nefarious plots of an alien junta of Mysore officialdom. The interest of the book lies in the fact that it throws a flood of light on the past history of the high officers of the State. The book is priced at As. 4 and contains nearly 140 pages. V.P. charges extra.

THE MYSORE CITY JAIL.

The management of this jail has improved considerably. There are nearly 200 prisoners. Thorough discipline is visible everywhere and the prisoners are polite and orderly. The prisoners used to be fed in the open air. Lately 4 covered halls have been constructed. They protect the prisoners from the sun and rain while eating. Arrangements are made to give them a general wash on Sundays. They also wash their clothes on that day. Arrangements for Christian, Mahamoden and Hindu prayers are made as well as for the delivery of sermons by the priests of the three denominations.

The finest and the most costly carpets are made in the jail. They cost from 8 rupees to 75 rupees each. Towels, bedsheets blanckets and other cloths necessary for the prisoners are manufactured here. Some of these are sold also to the public. There is a garden attached to the jail, in which vegetables for the needs of the inhabitants of the jail are grown. There are three kitchens Lingayat, Brahmin and non-Brahmin. The prisoners belonging to these communities cook and serve food for the prisoners belonging to their castes. All business including scavenging is done by one or other of them. There is as it were a spirit of self-help in this jail community. Most of the inhabitants of the jail seem to be contented with their lot. Those who are admitted to the jail are kept under observation for 10 days to ascertain whether they are suffering from any contageous diseases. After 10 days' observation they are admitted to the hospital. The civil prioners tell tales which, if true, reflects sadly on the administration of the civil justice The Inspector-General of prisons would do well to hear their tales and see whether they are well or ill founded and if well-founded to take such steps as are necessary to throw life to the department. During nights hurricane lamps, fed with kerosene oil, are used in the barracks The jail authorities would do well to light barracks also with electriot lamps. Electric installation in the jail and lighting the barracks with electric lamps would not entail much cost as the cost would be less than the amount spent on lanterns and kerosine oil. The latrine is kept clean but it is unscreened. It is necessary, nay, indispensable to raise screen partition walls to enforce decency. We hope that this will receive the attention of the Inspector-General of prisons. There are work shops in the jail for training prisoners in carpentry, smithy and weaving. Wool is spun into yarn and woolen cloths are made. Cotton yarn is purchased and there are 6 fly-shuttle looms to weave them into cloths. Charakas can be very usefully introduced and cotton yarn can be usefully woven there. The under trial prisoners, the civil prisoners, women and children find time dull. They work only 7 hours a day. The rest of the time except that devoted to sleep hangs heavy on them. Idleness is the devil's work-shop. It is necessary to give good employment to both hands and brains during all the working hours not only in jails but even outside it. This is a subject to which we invite the attention of His Highness the Maharaja and His Government.

Some years ago the prisoners used to complain that ragi flower was not pure, that ashes were mixed up with it and that the pudding was unfit for eating. The present Superintendent of jail examines ragi, rice, and dholl personally; sees that they are winnowed and the stones, dust and other things removed before they are admitted into the jail store-house. The ragi is winnowed, washed, dried in the sun, and then converted into flour. The complaints with respect to ragi and other food stuffs have become things of the past. Ragi is generally used. Rice is also used for the second meal. If an impress money of one or two thousand rupees are placed with the superintendent for purchasing raw-materials for the work shops, the prisoners can be converted into active workers and good citizens and when they leave the jail, they can be made to shift for themselves. There are at present nearly 200 prisoners including 4 female prisoners. The superintendent of the jail as well as the jailor have been managing the jail very satisfactorily. Scrupulous attention is paid to cleanliness, sanitary arrangement and discipline in the jail. How wish we that the administration of the country is as efficient as the administration of this jail.

SUDARSHAN.

The young men of the Sanatana Dharma Association, Lahore, mean to publish a weekly English paper entitled "Sudarshan". It is the only Sanatanist paper edited and managed by Hon. workers in the Punjab. On the 11th of August 1925, the sacred Birthday of Lord Sree Krishna, it will be started.

Sanatana Dharma means the ancient Dharma; that is the unalterable Dharma which we see embodied in the Laws of Nature underlying the creation, the maintenance and destruction that we see round us. If these are examined we shall see that there is neither creation nor destruction in the world. There is simply a change of form which passes off as creation and destruction. It is Sree Krishna that has given, in his Gita, an idea of these changes.

VICTORIA HOSPITAL.

(Its Past and its Present).

There was a time within our living memory, when this premier hospital of our Model State was in its pristine glory, under the able management of efficient and experienced medical officers whose professional services both in the field of medicine and surgery, was eagerly availed of by the people of this State as well as of the neighbouring Presidencies. The Victoria Hospital was, until recently, one of the best equipped hospitals in Southern India, and the pride of our State, and successive Senior Surgeons had entertained a keen desire to maintain this enviable reputation. Alas! what a sad contrast it presents to-day, particularly to one familiar with the past work of this institution. To begin with, one would expect that the head of such an important institution like this, would be some one with proved professional ability, high academic attainments and matured experience. An Officer fulfilling these conditions would be an asset to the institution. He would command respect and veneration from the staff under him, who could look up to him with confidence for guidance and help. On the contrary, mediocre officers, who have been vegetating in the Moffussal District hospitals for years, have been suddenly placed at the head of this institution to the great detriment of the general public and the claim of the junior staff for such preferential treatment is seniority in the service. True, they can handle ordinary cases in a rule of thumb style (which would have been in keeping with conditions ruling a quarter of a century ago perhaps), but when intricate cases requiring sound judgment and quick decision and performance arise, they find themselves quite unequal to the task and the less daring among such, resort to the comforting "wait and see" The Asquithian doctrine (which in the majority of cases results in an additional business to the undertaker) while experimenting with a number of set prescriptions whose physiological and therapeutic action are in opposition and contra-indicated. We hear, that patients unconscious, from injury to the brain, are administered morphia to render them still more so. In a case of this kind I hear recently succumbed that a patient.

Quite recently the permanent Medical Officer and Resident Medical Officer, had gone on leave and this institution abounding with surgical cases, was left to the tender mercy of a medical man whose knowledge of surgery is known to be of a very poor and primitive order, a fact, that Officer appears to be alive to, himself, for, a want of confidence in his own surgical abilities resulted in a woman, who was admitted into the female ward during his short regime, suffering from the obstruction of the bowels, to die for want of necessary surgical aid. What effect such incidents as these must have on the minds of the junior medical staff, as also on the large number of students who are constantly walking the wards in search of knowledge, is perhaps easier imagined than described.

The X-Ray department is equipped with antiquated appliances, and is in charge of a Sub-Assistant Surgeon, instead of one who has specialised in such a delicate scientific work.

The Ear and Throat demapart of the Victoria Hospital, which had obtained such a high reputation (until make shift arrangements has brought it down to what it is to-day) is managed by a young and inexperienced Assistant Surgeon, recently posted from a Mofussil station. As there is nobody on the hospital staff to advise or guide him in bettering his knowledge with up to date methods pertaining to the diseases of the ear and throat, the public will be deprived of much that is the best, which should in these advanced times be theirs as a lawful right, not beyond the reach of the Government.

Regarding surgical appliances, etc., the hospital falls far short of the requirements necessary for a well equipped important hospital and a seat of learning.

The present status of the Victoria Hospital as a teaching centre for the University students, calls for urgent administrative reform. Its efficiency should be maintained at all costs. Particular attention should always be paid to appointing an Officer as the head of the Institution who in addition to possessing high academic attainments and proved ability, should be one who is capable of intelligently and sympathetically organising and directing the best material under his control, and thus maintain the prestige of this once popular institution, which is at a painful discount at present (though run at great cost to the tax payer), and is anything but in keeping with the times as a teaching intitution.

It appears to us that to attain this object rapidly very useful assistance could be secured at the onset, by adopting the step advocated by the Principal of the Medical College in his speech at its prize distribution, held on the 23rd March last, wherein he stated, that unless the premier hospital is placed under the charge of the University and staffed by experienced Officers, there can be no salvation. This would not be difficult if the illogical and arbitrary arguments (a much interested pet determination to hamper) hitherto advanced by the minority (in high offices of the State), could be overcome. One of the insane and untenable arguments advanced against such a desirable step, is the fanciful possibility that the Government would lose its present control over it to such an extent as would likely deprive the public of this Institution as a hospital for the sick. Efficiency and its resulting usefulness, is not likely to deter but enhance public confidence, which would add and not diminish (as is fantastically feared) the attendance of any hospital, upon which the whole edifice of instructional, medical and surgical training is so vitally dependent. Such an apparent advantage is hardly likely to be beyond the comprehension or the attainment of those who would be entrusted to control the destinnies of this haspital, if in the hands of the University. The present system of the posting of lecturers, with its uncertain duration, due to the exigencies of the department that has to be served, prohibits the closer attention that might be bestowed on the methods of imparting instruction, and particularly in the direction of specializing, that is such an important and successful feature in the seats of learning in Western Countries. We believe such literary efforts are not likely to bear fruit until certain persons in high places at present, graciously subordinate party and personal prejudices in favour of the level-headed slogan "State and people first always."

We pray that this humble hope may not be beyond the pale of achievement.

Congeress Campaign:—At the meeting of the Nagapatam Taluk Congress Committee held yesterday, it was resolved to set up Congress candidates for the eight seats in the Nagapatam Municipal Concil falling vacant from November 1st.

FALLEN SISTERS.

(By M. K. Gandhi.)

At Madaripur the reception committee had arranged a spinning demonstration by the fallen sisters. I felt pleased at the sight but I drew the attention of the organisers to the dangers attendant upon handing the question. But at Barisal where the movement for their reclamation first took definite shape instead of its having taken a healthy course, the appearance of it was decidedly ugly. These unfotunate sisters have been organised there. A misleading name has been given to the organisation. Its 'present aims and objects' are stated as follows:

1. "To help the poor and nurse the sick brothers and sisters.

2. (a) To spread edueation amongst themselves;

(b) To promote spinning, weaving, tailoring, needle-works and other hand, crafts, by establishing a "Nari Silpa-sram";

Radium Treatment in India.

The benefit to be derived from radium treatment in combatting numberless diseases has been proved conclusively in recent years. Throughout Great Britain there are special radium treatment centres and in almost every hospital patients suffering from illnesses which may be cured by this scientific treatment are afforded the opportunity to avail themselves of its benefit In India there is only one hospital where this treatment may be obtained, and this is at Ranchi. It is obvious that this is quite inadequate and Ranchi is not centrally situated. It is time that all suitable hospitals in India should be equipped with this modern product of medical research.

No. G.C/131-

Office of the Senior Surgeon in Mysore,

Bangalore, Dated, 21st September 1926.

From

Dr. B. Mahomed Usmon, L.M.S.,
Senior Surgeon in Mysore, Bangalore.

GEN. & REV. SECT.
22. SEP. 1926
G. D. SECTION

The Secretary to the Government of
His Highness the Maharaja of Mysore,
Medical and Agricultural Departments, Bangalore.

Sir,

With reference to your letter No.G.9818, dated 29th May 1926 on the subject of introducing radium treatment in our hospitals, I have the honour to state that the Medical Officer, Victoria Hospital, who was consulted in the matter, states that it could be done but an additional hand will be required for the purpose.

During my deputation to England with the staff of His Highness the Yuvaraja in 1921, I had the privilege of attending the Cancer Hospital in London for about three months under Sir Earnest Miles, and another Hospital in Piccadilly, where radium treatment is a speciality, for about a month, and while there was so much talk about the possibilities of the action of radium in different diseases, I was convinced from what I saw there, that the curative effect of radium in cases of cancer was not radical. Radium is also a very expensive article. I think, therefore, that we may well wait for some time before introducing the treatment in our hospitals.

I may add that, in connection with the deputation of Mr. A.C. Devaraj to England for advanced training in X-Ray work, I would propose that he be asked to take a three months' course in any institution in England in Radium Therapy, and to select and bring wi him the necessary appliances to start radium treatment either in the Victoria Hospital or in the Krishnarajendra Hospital.

I have the honour to be,

Sir,

Your most obedient servant,

Mahomed

Senior Surgeon.
